

Answering the Call: Sister Professes Temporary Vows

LOUISVILLE, Ky (November 16, 2009) – Sister Katherine Corbett professed vows for three years in the Ursuline Sisters of Louisville on Saturday, November 14, during a Eucharistic Liturgy at 4:00 p.m. in the Motherhouse Chapel on Lexington Road, Louisville.

Her profession of vows came after three years in initial formation. The Ursuline Sisters of Louisville make four vows: the traditional ones of religious life: poverty, chastity and obedience, and a fourth vow, teaching Christian Living.

*Sister Katherine officially and publicly requests to enter the congregation.
(View more photos by clicking the below button.)*

“It was Sister Katherine who set this into motion by saying yes to God’s invitation,” said Sister Sarah Stauble as she addressed to the crowd during the ceremony. “Katherine, we welcome you into our hearts and into our congregation.”

More than 130 people, Ursuline Sisters and Associates, family, and friends, witnessed her profession. The crowd was then invited to attend a dinner in the Ursuline Motherhouse dining room in celebration of the important day.

Sister Katherine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Corbett of Bardstown, Kentucky, and has a sister and a brother. She is a registered nurse presently working in home health care and will continue to work in Louisville as an Ursuline Sister. Formerly she ministered for some years at Marian Home, a nursing facility operated by the Ursuline Sisters.

View Photos